Wider Team

Advisory Board

Our advisory board is made up of leaders in the global entertainment industry, including Will Clarke, CEO of Altitude (leading UK Independent Film and TV Group), Alex Gibney (Oscar-winning filmmaker and founder of Jigsaw Productions), Lou Gaynor (former CEO of the industry leading Target Media Group and games developer), and Linda Cullen (CEO of COCO Content, Ireland's leading independent TV production company).

Leading Experts

Using our academic contacts at leading universities including UCL, Stanford University, University of Cambridge, and Trinity College Dublin, as well as our industry contacts into the wider psychology and neuroscience field, we will connect stories and projects with appropriate experts in the relative area.

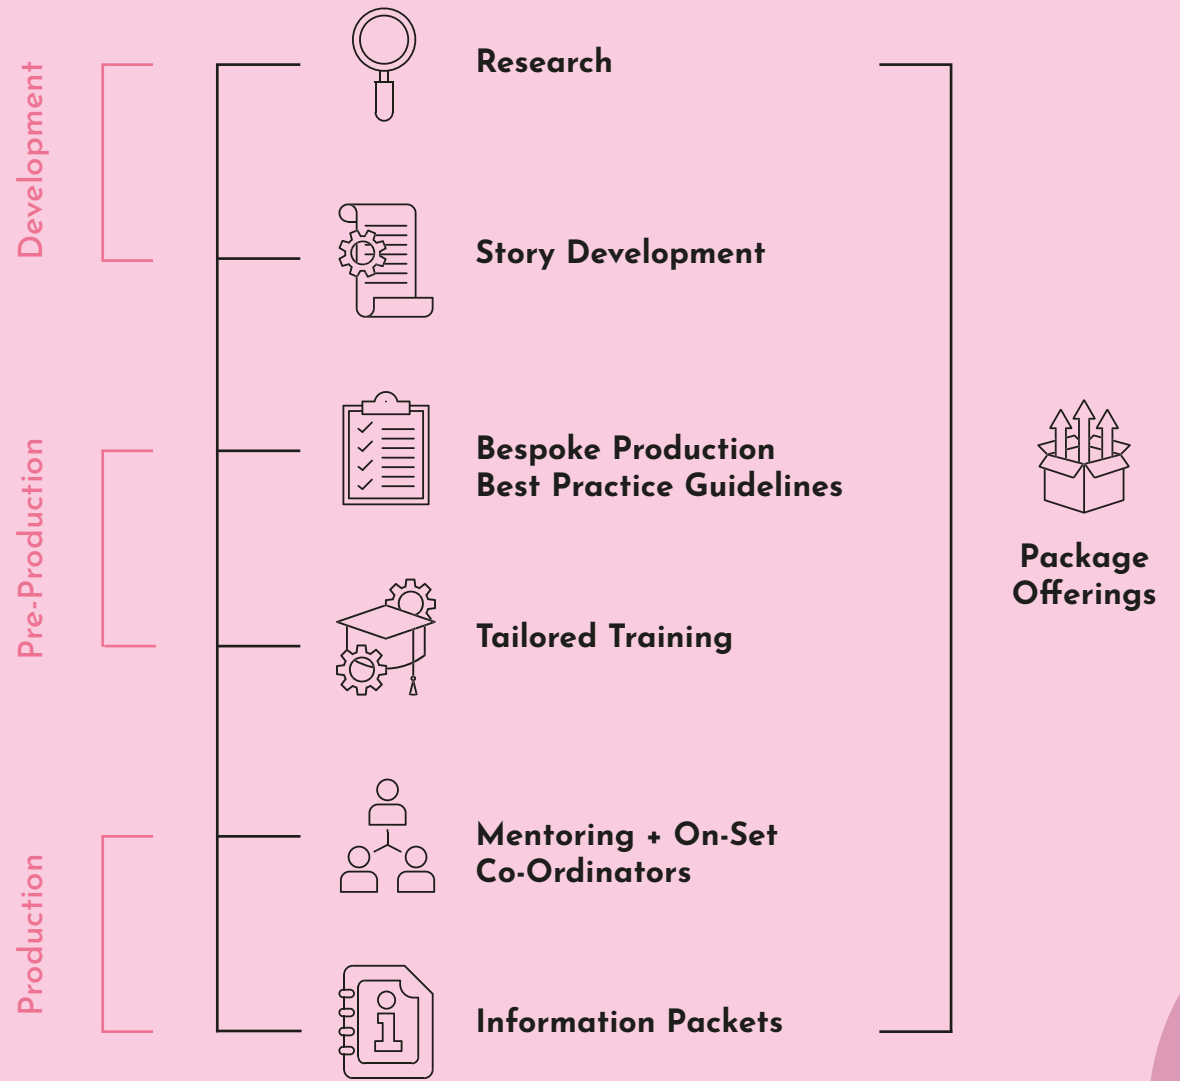

Lived Experience Consultants

Connecting with individuals from diverse backgrounds across varying platforms, we can ensure that themes are authentically represented on screen by consulting with real lived experience. This is increasingly important for projects to consider, as the media we consume continues to dictate our opinions and stereotypes that are formed.

PROJECT CONSULTANCY SERVICES

With our vast experience of the media production world, we understand the importance of integrating neuroinclusive practices at every stage of production - from project conceptualisation right through to post and distribution. Our services consider each life stage of a production, with bespoke offerings suited to your particular project needs.

RESEARCH

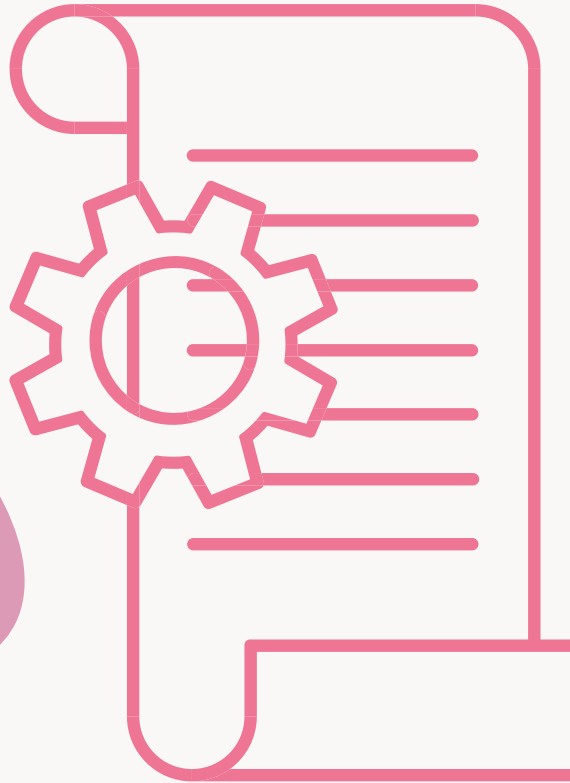

Worried about depicting sensitive topics around mental health, neurodiversity, or abnormal psychology? Conscious of ensuring authentic representation of themes and characteristics? We can conduct thorough research for you, helping to evidence creative decisions to do right by the communities you are representing, and avoid backlash due to inaccuracy and stereotypes:

- Thorough literature reviews of scientific and academic papers relating to your chosen theme, condition, or topic - translating academic jargon into a readable and accessible report
- Consult with individuals with lived experience of the theme, condition or topic you are representing
- Consult with and get sign off from experts regarding your depictions

STORY DEVELOPMENT

Using our research, our expertise in psychology and neuroscience, and our decades of experience in the media production world, we can consult on specific creative materials to ensure that the characters and themes being depicted are authentic, sensitive, and organic:

- Shaping Stories and Key Messages
- Script Consultation
- Character Development and Feedback
- Pitch Guidance

BESPOKE PRODUCTION BEST PRACTICE GUIDELINES

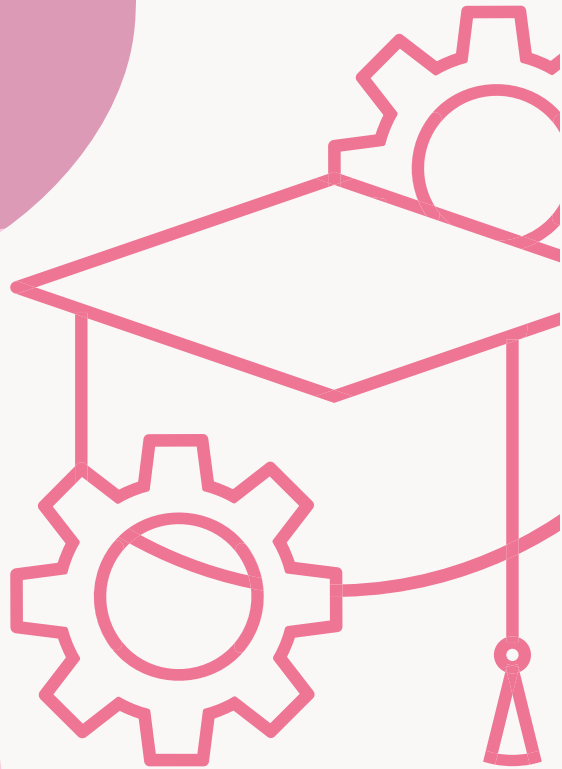

Our brains all work in unique ways. Considering this not only in the story you are telling, but in the work environment you are fostering, can make your production process more inclusive as well as more productive. We can help to create a bespoke set of guidelines specific to your project, including:

- Tips and tricks for creating a neuroinclusive production, throughout the entire process
- Understanding legal requirements and expectations when dealing with mental health and neurodiversity in your crew
- Understanding reasonable adjustments and how to accommodate them
- Guidance on asking for additional budget for implementing inclusive measures from your financiers/commissioners
- Fostering better attitudes and a more inclusive culture in your production spaces and sets

TAILORED TRAINING

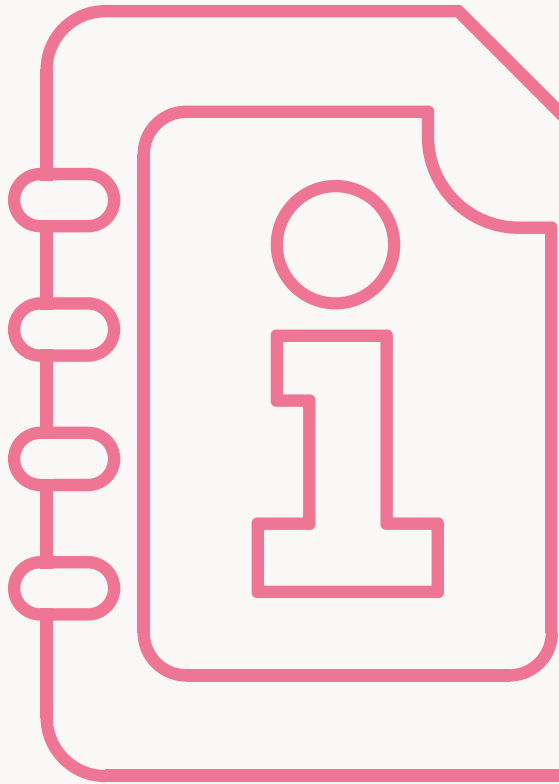

The most immediate barriers to neuroinclusivity on set and in workplaces is a lack of understanding about the unique challenges faced by, and different needs of, a diverse cast and crew. We can create and conduct tailored training and workshops on actionable learnings that empowers and educates your crew, including:

- Onboarding
- Understanding differences and how to talk about and to them
- Communication training for management
- Role specific training
- Reasonable adjustments and crew support
- Exploring the creation of best possible conditions for an inclusive work space

INFORMATION PACKETS

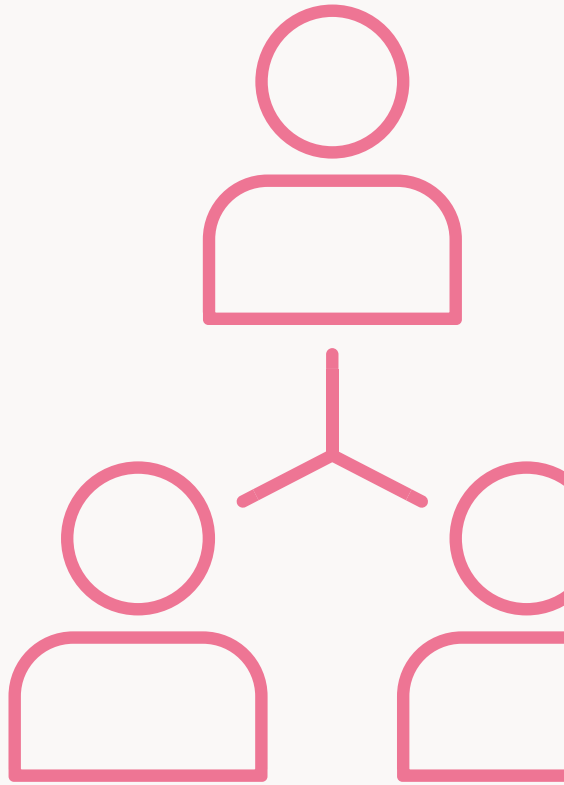

Bespoke project Information Packets in advance of a shoot not only help alleviate anxieties experienced by many crew members on a production (increasing both wellbeing and productivity), but save AD's and set co-ordinators a load of time - and stress. We can help you prepare a bespoke Information Packet in advance of your shoot that includes:

- Set expectations and codes of conduct
- Location maps
- Crew lists and hierarchy diagrams

MENTORING AND ON-SET CO-ORDINATORS

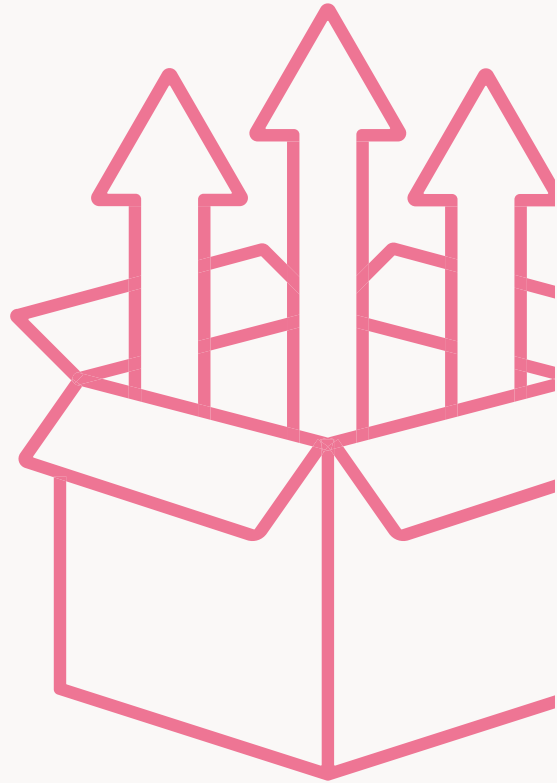

Not confident on managing neurodiversity, mental health, or psychological differences on set? Want to ensure your crew have an external point-of-contact to share concerns and ask for any accommodations they may need? We can help:

- Access Co-ordinators
- Mental Health professionals
- Crew mentors
- Wellbeing Assessments and Feedback
- Help implementing and facilitating reasonable adjustments
